AdMan is a standalone Ad Server that provides publishers with a way to organize ads, view real-time traffic statistics, handle online transactions and interact with advertisers. AdMan is the perfect tool for companies wishing to eliminate commission charges from advertising middlemen and provide more customizable ad products to their advertisers. AdMan is compatible with many other ad management services like Google AdSense, AdBrite, and Commission Junction. This way you can centralize your ad reporting and even provide more customizable ad products to premiere advertisers. Moreover, AdMan utilizes iframes and can therefore be plugged into any existing website architecture. Features: Manage your ads, sell your ads, manage advertisers, provide real time reporting, integrate with 3rd party suppliers, accept credit card payments and much more! Visit our site for a free trial.
