With this very easy to install script, you can give your visitors the possibility of searching for books after filling in keywords. By using Ajax, the results appear fast on the same page (no new page is loaded). Each result is shown with the title of the book, the current price at amazon.com, a small picture and a book-description. If you are a member of the amazon.com-associate-program, the script generates for each result an associate-link with your associate-id. You can see the script in action on the author's page.
