AppGini is a tool that accelerates web database applications development. Use AppGini to reduce your development cost and time, and rest assured that your code will be fully functional and bug-free. AppGini converts your database into a powerful multi-user PHP application that connects to MySQL database. It creates HTML forms for editing your data and all the PHP scripts behind them. It features enhanced foreign keys functionality and advanced Filters and sorting. You can create image fields that support image uploads, as well as file upload fields that allow uploading PDF, word, Excel, PPT, and any other file type, and provide download links for them. All this is done very easily through an intuitive graphical interface, without having to write any PHP scripts, HTML or SQL. You can customize the appearance of the generated scripts using CSS.
