Since there are no free open source ASP solutions for live shipping rates with UPS, FedEx and USPS I decided that I'm going to write a free open source solution that anyone can use. This code is all 100% ASP and requires no non-Microsoft plugins or COM+ dlls. You can currently render the XML response as either a select box, an array of radio buttons, or just plain old text if you'd just like to display it and not use it in a form. Integration is simple, just add an "include" statement to the top of an existing page, and then get the rates with a few simple lines of code. Integration can take place in as little as 2 lines of ASP code.
