Automatic Related Products is extremely flexible Magento extension which allows you to forget about outdated way of adding related products. Define the rules for products selection and let this software populate the block automatically! You can specify the following fetching options - random, last added or lexically similar products; their location - from the current store or current category only, or restrict in-stock only items to be retrieved. You can even specify a certain price range! Besides standard control of the extension's behaviour from the admin panel, you can also pass block variables what allows you to create several independent of each other related blocks with different content. Position the block anywhere on any page – have cross-sells and upsells at the same time, or use it on category page to create "Featured products" block. Enrich your store with the Automatic Related Products module now!
