Built2Go offers a fully developed PHP classified ad system integrated with a variety of well designed web templates for the ultimate in polished appearance and full functionality. The Built2Go classified ad system allows users to post basic classified ads for free, or pay to upgrade their listing with special attention getters or additional time for their ad. This system is complete with many advanced options in the user account area, such as private messaging, as well as a private secure administration area that provides for total control over users, categories, auctions, and a direct editing over template files. Other features include a buyer and seller review and rating system.
