Without the help of the Customer Purchases Magento module, it can be complicated to quickly view what each customer is buying. That's because the standard Magento "Orders" tab simply doesn't allow this option. For online store representatives to obtain the data they need for marketing and analysis, additional, time-consuming steps must be undertaken. The Customer Purchases extension solves this dilemma by incorporating a "Purchases" tab into the Customer Information page. Using the tab, businesses can observe a complete listing of any customer's purchases. And with the "View Order" button, they can easily check the date and time each order was made; the product title(s); the quantity ordered; the price per item ordered; and the total purchase price.
