TreeBase Generator is a MS Windows based program which allows its users to publish new or existing databases to the Internet in a very simple and fast way. The user can decide what sort of database he/she wants to realize, and what goals he/she wants to achieve. He can also determine the appearance of the search forms. With TreeBase Generator you will acquire predefined appearances of your sites, and you can choose designs from our list and download them for free. You will also receive a language tool for displaying the system messages in several different languages.
