In this PHP site, every user can register and post an ad for free. The ad remains pending until the admin approves it. The performance of a real estate site will clearly be bad if a user uploads images of big sizes (2 megs or more). Our script will use ImageMagick to render the uploaded images and reduce their sizes up to 50% during the upload phase! An ad can have up to 150 characteristics that the user specifies in the form of drop down menus, check boxes and text areas; this generates a detailed description of Ads that will give your site visitors an exact idea about how the real estate they are looking for look like. In addition, the admin area features the approve/disapprove ads option that can be performed in a click.
