This is a cool timer that displays the time remaining to a pre-set date&time. It can display a message at the when the target date is finished. Optionally the end message and the actual timer can act as buttons and open up urls. You can change all colors and gradients in the xml, this is an extremely flexible file ! Settings you can change in the XML file: - target date (can set the year, month, day, hour, minute, second and GMT) - all colors & gradients (background gradient, background stroke, led screen bg gradient, led screen stroke, led bg text color and alpha, led text color, led text glow on/off, mouse over led text color, description text color) ...and many more
