DRBRatings is a simple script for putting a ratings form on a web page. You may use the star graphics that are included with the script, or replace them with your own graphics. Data is stored in flat files, so no database is required. Installation is quick and easy. The script prevents the same IP address from voting more than once. The ratings form is XHTML syntax compliant, and compatible with both IE and Firefox. Multiple ratings forms on the your site can utilize the same instance of the script. Included is an example page demonstrating how to add a ratings script to virtually any PHP page on your website.
