DueToExpire Pro is a powerful shell script that searches Yahoo and Dmoz for domain names that are due to expire. You tell the script the dates to search for and it does the rest. Results are printed in "comma delimited" format so you can easily import the information into a spreadsheet program like Microsoft Excel. Sort by domain name, expiration date, etc. It is an incredible script that will save you hours, even days of work. Domain name expiration predicting has never been easier.
