Our goal today, as it was when Dynamic Works was born in early 2003, has been to provide businesses, ranging from small, to multi-national organizations, the greatest advantage in tailor-made software applications, be it for an website that turns over millions in sales per year, a small corporate site, or an internal business application wherein the staff have all and any company documents at their fingertips. We achieve this by fusing all the DW teams together in unison. Our graphic design team works hand-in-hand with marketing so that the creative aspects are completely covered. The development department integrates the design whilst working together in harmony with our business development, information services and customer service teams to provide the client with a maximum product that meets all and above their expectations. Every employee is loaded with a rich range of skills. All projects are built upon the EasyConsole Framework from which our CMS & eCRM products derive.
