Ektron introduces DMS400, a powerful Web-based document management system that enables mid-size organizations and larger enterprises to conquer the growing volume of information assets critical to their business success. With Ektron DMS400, knowledge workers create, collaborate, and manage documents, including Microsoft Office files such as Word, PowerPoint and Excel, from any browser. They can also manage a wide range of other file types including PDFs, digital media files and more, in a secure environment. Powerful indexing and search mean workers can find information quickly and ensure they're always working with up-to-date documents and digital assets.
