This script brings the fun of gambling to your site, without the worry of using real money. You set up the amount of credits your players get, the ratio, and some insider information for the 'pros' and let the games begin! This Fantasy Betting is a just-for-fun way to manage betting on your site. Every user who logs in gets a set amount of 'dollars' or 'quid' or 'bangles' (you decide the currency) then have an opportunity to place a fun wager on items of your choice. When you're ready to announce the winner, all users are sent an email asking them to re-visit your site to claim their 'winnings.' Thus this becomes a great way to get repeat customers. The more a user wins, the more 'insider information' this user will obtain for future bets. There are three potential levels of player, and you set the boundaries when you install the script. When a user logs in, then are shown the amount of credits in their bank account, and they will have the option of accepting any outstanding winnings. Use this for baseball, football, or other sports for fun betting. When a team wins, log in, announce the winner, and watch the hits go up on your site. New: Users can now transfer funds between other accounts.
