A browser and machine based directory of web services. The unique part of the directory is that all of the clients where created in Flash. The listed services, however, can be consumed with any programming language. Also offers a Flash WSDL Inspector which parse's any WSDL file. This works along with the Directory (also stand alone) to visually display all parts of any listed WSDL file in an easy to understand format. The WSDL inspector and services should be helpful to any programmer, while the flash clients will provide useful to flash specific programmers and designers.
