Image Studio is a client-side image gallery script that generates a photo gallery. This photo gallery script requires no additional software to be installed on your server - unlike the traditional methods of deploying a photo gallery. Image Studio is a self-contained script that runs in your browser. Image Studio is the perfect solution to publish a personal or professional photo album on the web. The photo gallery script allows you to create a photo album quickly, easily and with hardly any effort. The ability to use rich HTML content via the image gallery script allows for more robust implementations - Image Studio is capable of using HTML to extend its own capabilities far beyond the norm: You are only limited by imagination. Now available as a Dreamweaver extension to automate your gallery creation!
