Inforest Communications is a Web development and Internet advertising company combining marketing strategy, application development and user interface design to build effective Web sites and other interactive media. We live and breathe online, having worked in Web design and development since our inception in 1997. We develop interactive interfaces and the back-end database, e-commerce and content management systems that drive them. We leverage this experience to build high quality, integrated Web sites, Web-based applications and Internet advertising vehicles that combine the best techniques in rich media design and dynamic content.
