The ITCN ASP.NET Enterprise Forum is a powerful Forum and Discussion Board for your website, built with search engine optimization in mind. Programmed in VB.NET for the Microsoft® .Net 2.0 Framework, the forum software will work on just about any Windows web server with .NET and SQL Server installed. And since it's fully customizable, you can add it to just about any website or blog. First released in 2004, the forum has been newly upgraded in 2007 to provide all the features you have come to expect and need in a discussion board, without all the complexity and difficulty of administration. It is flexible enough to be completely themed to match the look and feel of your website. Our newest edition is a complete table-less CSS design in XHTML with a focus on search engine optimization, to insure that your website's forum will get noticed, get more traffic, and get more people talking!
