jBannerSlider is a script for banner slider animations and banner rotating. Banner slider can be used for general purpose web site banners to rotate included items (with animation effects) having anything like images or any other html content. Banner slider has automatic and manual item advancing support with options like using page numbers and arrows. Banner slider has also subtitle support for labeling each slide/banner. Animation time and slide duration time parameters may be edited freely to suit your requirements. The index.html file includes example code to help you start using banner slider easily. You can also watch the sample video of banner slider to see how it runs.
