Linkmatic lets you run a feature-filled and efficient Web Directory database at your website. It maintains one or more databases of website links using a separate directory for each database and its supporting files. You can have up to 90 categories per database. Each database file has one record per line, with 8 fields per record. You select maximum links to show per page and maximum total matches. Script mimics "Alta-Vista" behavior, using clickable pins for user to move backward or forward through the other result pages. User can request to add a new record to a pending file. It then checks whether a valid category, URL and E-Mail format were entered. If accepted, manager receives an E-Mail notice of how many new links are pending.
