As common knowledge, the standard Magento delivery options provide shipping rates transmitted automatically from carriers APIs. That means you – Magento store owners play very passive role in controlling shipping rates. Why don't we change this current situation and gain more benefit by taking control of the shipping rates with Magento Shipping Rules? Magento shipping rule extension will help you modify shipping rates provided by UPS, DHL, FedEx or other shipping carriers. You can easily increase, decrease or even replace the standard shipping rates based on your business plan. As a result, you can have higher earnings than ever before. Magento Shipping Rules extension applies custom shipping rules according to product type and define shipping rates based on destination, product attributes, cart attributes or shipping Address.
