Grocery delivery – on of those businesses that are always high on demand. Starting the business needs very less or no investment. Even without a grocery store of your own, you can simply enroll with a few grocery stores in the neighborhood and carry put their delivery service or get in touch with the customers and offer to do the grocery shopping for them. Just the word of mouth would suffice to reach customers and as an additional feature, you can have a mobile app for your business, which would greatly increase the market reach and thereby customers. And to be honest it has proved to be the best way to market a business. Just a click at the app and getting grocery delivered at the doorstep. Wonder who wouldn't prefer a business like that.
