phpBB-Passport is the next step in the phpBB World. Are you annoyed with constantly signing up to every forum you goto, approve your account, and filling out the registration, and the rest of the hassel that goes with it. Well thats all going to change with phpBB-Passport! When you signup for your phpBB Passport account, all your details including AIM, Signiture, and settings, are saved. When you goto a forum and you see the phpBB-Passport logo on the forum, simply click it, and login with the same login name and password as with your phpBB-Passport, even if your not registered! When you login, your details are automatically transfered, and you are instantly logged in, its just like having a username and password for all forums without signing up! This can be added to any phpBB forum free of charge!
