PHPFABER is creative and progressive web development studio located in the Ukraine, Eastern Europe. Our team specializes in outsourcing web design and development services for clients across the U.S., Europe, Asia and Australia. Why you should be interested in cooperation with us? * In Ukraine there are a lot of talented people, knowing their job through and through. * We are small team, so you should not pay your money for large army of managers and directors. * The hour rates are much lower. * We cherish our customers. * We develop the projects at the same quality level as American studios do, and maybe with even higher quality. * We use modern tools and principles to build our applications. * You will be satisfied with our service at all times. * And even assuming the opposite, you know that in any case your money will be returned to you if you are dissatisfied. No risk! Just try and start cooperating with us with a small project, and you'll be agreeably surprised.
