Sitelok can password protect and control access to html or PHP pages within your website. You can separate your site into members only areas and each user can be a member of multiple areas. New users can be added to Sitelok either manually via the Sitelok admin panel, via user registration forms,from a PHP script using the Sitelok API or via free payment plugins for Paypal, Stripe or 2CO. A users membership of an area can be set to expire after a fixed number of days or can be left open. Once setup making a page secure is simply a matter of adding a snippet to the top of the page. The Sitelok control panel provides an easy to use and powerful way to manage users and provides access to a log that stores each users access. You can also send template based email to one or more members (with multiple conditions) making Sitelok a powerful way to keep in touch. Everything the user sees is 100% customizable. We have a wide range of free and paid for add ons for the new plugin system too.
