Stock Quoter allows you to display stock quotes (20 minute delay) and intraday charts in any PHP page on your website. Super easy to install - just upload to any directory and it runs stand-alone. Use a PHP include statement or paste the code directly to display as part of an existing PHP page. Separate config file lets you control appearance so you can blend Stock Quoter seamlessly into your site. Freeware version is fully functional but limits configuration options and displays a discrete copyright notice and download link. Just enter a valid registration key in the config file to get full configuration options and eliminate display of copyright notice and links.
