Got a submissions form that you keep getting multiple submissions from? I've found that in most cases its because people are impatient and click the submit button repeatedly until they get a response. The unfortunate result is that you receive multiple copies of the same form. This little bit of JavaScript disables the submit button as soon as it is clicked for the first time and prevents the user sending their form multiple times. Script now also changes the text on the button to 'Thanks' (this can be modified to suit)
