Time Targeting addon is one of the most powerful method for targeting ads which is based on date and time. Your advertisers can target their ads either for a particular time period or for a particular date. This effective campaign will provide a different experience for your advertisers, and will make you unique among other advertising services. With the date targeting your advertisers can target the ads for a particular day by specifying the dates. You can also just specify a time duration to target your ads. This optional time targeting methods can be utilized by your users to target ads and ensure the proper targetting of ads. From our broad experience this is one of the most demanding campaign mechanism from advertisers.
