This is a very complete time management system for people who bill clients both by quote and/or by the hour. This system allows you to add clients, add jobs to clients, keep track of a ton of info on all clients as well as calculating whats been charged, whats been deposited, whats still owed, etc. It has a built in daily reminder system that you can use for all needs. It has built in client stats areas, where the client can keep track of what you have done, as well as send you local and/or email messages. Email areas have built in autoreply functions so you never lose the plot in conversations. The script also allows for billing clients, currently thru authorize.net but being that that part is also template driven, it can be used with just about any billing company with little modification. Many other minor features make this script a must for anyone doing business by quote or by hourly rates
