Maid service business – requires no big capital, no storefront, or expertise and technical skills. We sure would have cleaned our furniture and equipment at home. This is just doing the same for other people and getting paid for the same. How hard can it be? As of today, the only leisure time people get are the weekends and to spend that cleaning stuff is not something they would prefer. Whereas hiring a maid may not be their choice since they may not require a maid at all times. And with the feature to offer maid services only at a time that would convene them is the best of all service business on demand and can be run conveniently from home without the need of any separate office store front.
