ViewletBuilder is an authoring tool to create animated online software demos called Viewlets. The cursor moves around, menus are highlighted and chosen, dialog boxes open, etc., all while balloons and memos describe the action. It's like watching over the shoulder of an expert as they show you the software. New features include enhanced sound management features and full Unicode character compatability (for use with any language). Creates small files, and no plug-in is required, making them perfect for web demos. Even dial-up modem users can enjoy these demos. Creating Viewlets is easy and fast.
