This script runs an automated Real Estate site with all functions needed to the success of a money making business. The front end has functions to let Real Estate Agents or private sellers login to post ads and edit them if they need to be corrected. Also agents will get a mail notification to remind them that their ad will expire after or before a couple of days. The admin area manages the site fully. Through it, categories, agents and other properties can be directly controlled by the site administrator. This script uses IPN so the members will instantly get credited after they purchase a certain number of ads, thus, they can start posting ads instantly after payment.
