This script allows you to email your visitors your software or information. If you are offering software, the script will email it to the visitor as a file attachment. The users information including email address, IP address, date of purchase, and file requested, is logged in a log file. The administrator also has a private section, where the admin can email files to a specific user. The files in the administrators section are not open to the public. For example, if one of your customers contacts you and needs another copy of software they purchased from you, you can enter your admin section and have your server send it to them, rather than you using your PC to upload. This script is completely customizable as the screens are run on HTML templates.
