XMLNuke is Web Development Framework fully based on XML. Programming with XMLNuke Framework you create your website based on your data (XML) moving the design and the operational system to a second layer. To aid in this work the XMLNuke provides several classes for abstract the use of XML and the environment it xmlnuke is running. XMLNuke is a site content management also and uses only XML/XSL files. No database is needed and it has a minimum setup. The XMLNuke becomes in a two flavors: PHP5 and CSharp and both running in Linux and Windows without any modifications or adjusts in your code.
