Here is a tool that converts a text file listing all your URLs into a Google sitemap XML. Most of the time, that is all the help you need so that you can submit a valid XML sitemap to Google Webmaster Tools and Bing Webmaster Tools. If so, don't let software crawl your site while you wait for hours and sometimes days before it generates a sitemap for you. Let this save you time, bandwidth, and money. Ask the person who built your site a list of all the live page URLs and save them into a single text file. Within a few seconds, XMLSitemapMaker 2.2 will convert that list into a XML sitemap file you can submit to the major search engines without error.
