Abandoned Cart Emails extension allows Magento stores to send customers email reminding them of their abandoned carts. This extension is developed with a flexible configuration from the back-end allowing you to have your own abandoned cart alert system. Customers usually visit online stores, they like a product, add it to shopping cart but do not complete their purchases, leave store and forget about the product and your store. It is a very common for almost online stores. Sending one or two emails to remind them of their shopping cart can bring a surprising result. With our new extension, you can easily configure it from the back-end and let it send email automatically. The module also allows you to create a coupon code and send it to customers automatically. Customers will be surprised of the email and more likely to complete their orders.
