DeKlarit is the only Model Driven tool that combines: Agile database modeling; declarative business rules; automatic code generation; and seamless integration with Microsoft Visual Studio .NET to deliver a truly agile development process for building and maintaining .NET connected applications. DeKlarit 3.5 features seamless integration with Microsoft Enterprise Library for caching, authentication, authorization, configuration, and cryptography. All the required configuration files are automatically generated and deployed, relieving you from the most tedious part of Enterprise Library development. Other major improvements include more powerful business framework generation and major improvements in UI customization.
