Help Desk is a contact mail form for your PHP-NUKE site with a twist. It allows your site users to contact a specific department on your site so the right questions go to the right person. It includes a level of importance 1-5 so you can sort out the urgent messages from the not so important ones. Users can decide if they want to be contacted via email or phone and have the option to leave their phone number. The users inquiry is mailed with detailed stats/info. Other features include things like members email is automatically printed in text field when signed in, Members ID# is printed and detects when a user is not a member or member is not logged in.
