This script can help you by alternating traffic to different webpages. For example, if you have a site on which you are promoting car insurance offers, you can promote Geico Car Insurance, All State auto Insurance and Progressive insurances from the same page by alternating them using this script. Alternatively, if you have a site and want a tool that sends traffic to your sponsors, advertisers, or partners, you will need this script to manage the forwarding for you. Read how this script works and use your creativity to use it for your benefit. HOW IT WORKS: You may configure up to 10 URLS on an easy to read configuration file. The script takes one link at a time and opens it in an Iframe on your site itself. When another user comes to your site and goes to the same page, this script will take the next URL and open that in an iframe and this process keeps repeating until the last link has been opened. Once all the links have been used, it restarts itself from the first link.
