PHP Web Poll lets you create unlimited multiple choice polling questions either with single or multiple answers allowed, schedule polls and translate the PHP poll script. Eight poll skins, FREE installation and two licensing options. With this script you can create multiple choice polling questions either with single or multiple answers allowed, schedule online polls by creating start and stop dates and translate the script using an easy language editor in the script back-end. With the User license, files come encrypted and you can install the script on a single domain. On the other hand, the Developer license allows you to make any amendments to the source code and functionality, and also allows you to install the PHP poll script on up to five domains.
