The search engine saturation tool checks how many of your web pages are in Google, HotBot, AltaVista, and AlltheWeb. Submit your URL and compare it to up to five of your competitors. The information is presented in a chart view and graphical view. Search engine saturation is important because it helps your overall link popularity when more of your pages are indexed. Once you discover what pages are showing up in the search engine's index you will know which pages within your site need work. Using our marketing tools can help you with search engine optimization of these pages. Optimize every page in your website to improve the amount of pages indexed. Feel free to use our other marketing tools to help you.
