Sothink Glanda is a template-based tool designed to create Flash movies for your web site in a fast and easy way. It allows you to easily create a variety of animated effects such as buttons, navigation, splash pages, graphic logos. It creates the same SWF file like Macromedia Flash, but doesn't require any Flash design experience or art design skill. WYSIWYG design panel and integrated preview makes the creation become more intuitionistic. It includes various well-designed templates such as animated buttons, text effects, motion backgrounds and greeting cards as well as vector shapes, images, sound files supplied for your convenience. In the 2001a version, it integrated an import tool which enables you to import shapes, texts, motions from other SWF files. And you can make interactive movies by linking your buttons to external Flash movies.
